

Beauty Advice for Winter

In winter our skin has to cope with frequent temperature changes with air conditioning variations, as we put on and take off additional clothes, move from indoors to outdoors etc. This causes the skin's blood supply to work even harder just to maintain a comfortable temperature and this spells disaster for skin with fragile ("broken") capillaries as the blood capillary network is stressed to the hilt!

Sothys is the only brand we know of that makes a skincare range especially for skin with Fragile Capillaries, working to strengthen and thicken capillary walls and preventing blood from back-pooling or seeping into surrounding tissues.

Clarte & Confort line is priced from only $46.50 and works a treat to reduce flushing, redness or sensitivity. In store now.

If you are over 25 or struggling to stay hydrated Bad; News !! Your skin has begun to lose its NMFs or Natural Moisturising Factors. These amazing little molecular bundles are what BIND moisture in the skin, making all your moisturising efforts worthwhile.

If you haven't got any NMFs, all the water in the world won't help as it will simply dissipate to the deeper tissues or be lost to the air. Cream will only 'seal' dehydrated skin (see below). Ensure your cream is value for money by layering it OVER a Tonic Lotion and a Serum or Hydration Gel containing Hyaluronic Acid (hyaluronic is a skin-identical NMF taken from plants). Tasha recommends Intraceuticals Hydration Gel $89.

Are you using moisturiser straight after you cleanse? The Moisturiser's job is to supplement the natural oils we wash away during cleansing and to form a barrier to protect you from the environment. Whilst it hydrates only the very upper layers of the skin, its real 'magic' quality is the way it seals the skin to prevent Trans-Epidermal Water Loss (TEWL) from the deeper layers.

Ensure you have a great serum UNDER your cream – WET THE SKIN (serum), THEN LOCK IT IN! (cream).

Shannon recommends Sothys Immuniscience Serum, perfect for restoring deep hydration to sensitized skins $ 75

Moisturising Tip!

If you find it hard to stand in a cold bathroom and apply body cream in the winter, try this after a shower: Towel dry, then pour a little Body Oil onto a warm facecloth which you have wrung out well. Quickly sweep across your whole body, then pat dry again if need be. You will be left with a silky film of oil but don't need to massage it in. The warmth will make it absorb quickly and you can get dressed right away.

Check out our range of Aromae essential oils and add these to your body oil. Choose a blend to suit your mood or one purely for the ultimate in bathroom luxury.
